

Strength

by Gabe Lee

A stone stands strong,
Only the greatest rainfall or wind breaks its stride.
It lasts for ages and ages
Outlasting birth to death
Infinitely old
A stone stands strong.

An oak stands strong
Only harsh winters drop its leaves.
It bears incredible weight
While mother bird raises her children
Sturdy and unmovable
An oak stands strong.

We should stand strong
Not even the most challenging adversaries knocking us down
While we last, we bring love and growth
Advancing humanity
Withstanding troubles
We should stand strong.
